Adopted: Taylor!

Taylor stayed in the carrier for a couple days but has already ventured out into his room to explore and is enjoying pets!

Update, Day 2

“Taylor let me pet him for about 20-25 minutes today. He was really letting me pet him. Scratching his ears, his cheeks. Stroking his forehead. It was amazing. 7 years it took for me to do that. He was even letting me pet him all the way to the base of his tail with the end of the toy.”

Taylor Continued: Update, Day 3

“I just wanted to express how long I have waited to take this handsome boy home with me. Words can't express how happy I am right now. Taylor is doing okay. He went out of the carrier and sat in different spots in my room, which he did not do before. He gained some confidence and left his comfort zone! I am also happy to report that Taylor has let me pet him. Really, really pet him. Rub his chin, his cheeks. Scratch his ears and stroke his forehead. Seven years it took for me to do that and the feeling is indescribable. He likes the toys we got for him and his blue bowl. He is still a little unsure but I think he is doing fairly well for a kitty who has been at PAWS for eight years straight. To all the volunteers: I will take as many photos as possible and show everyone! Taylor certainly deserves the spotlight!” Thank You Caitlin, Megan and Erin!

YuYu (now Murphy) Doing Well!

“He was at the Vet on June 8th six days after his 10th birthday. He came away with flying colors. He weigh in at 15.8 pounds, so he lost 3 pounds... the Vet wants him to lose another 3 before his next appointment, which is going to be in February. He did not cry or meow while he was at the Vet. He got a Good Boy rating.

At night when my son and I watch TV he comes in the room for awhile and then leaves and then comes back. He doesn't jump on any laps yet but he will put his front paws on Alex's seat. When I want to see him I rattle the treat bag and he comes running, then I get to pet him. His favorite place is in a chair in the Living Room. When he is there I usually pet and brush him. He will stay there all day if you do. We are very happy with Murphy (Yuyu). Thank you for all your help and guidance.”

Star & Sushi say Thanks for the Blanket!

Updates w/o Photos

“Swizzle is doing just great, She was in not too long ago for a shot and checkup. She is loving her home and I love her very much. She enjoys when we have friends and family over. Thank you for letting me have a chance to adopt her.”

“Trimeowatops (now Luna) is doing very well. She's so sweet and playful. She and our other cat Tiger are really good buddies. Thank you for letting us have her.”

Winston is Doing Great!

“I got him home the first day and after only 8 hours he was playing and laying around the house. And he won’t stop purring!”

Updates w/o Photos

“Both Prudence (formerly Dixie) & Spencer (formerly I’m So Fluffy, which we still call him sometimes) are great. They are absolutely hilarious and we feel they are perfect for us. They are both now about a year old. Prudence is the nuttiest cat we have ever had. She went through a phase during which she learned how to turn off and on the living room lamp. It works with a pull chain she could grab with her teeth). We’d be watching TV and all of a sudden the lamp would go off. It was very funny. We are so happy together and really glad we got our babies from PAWS.”

Passion Fruit (now Jane) Fitting in Well

“Passion Fruit is now Jane and she LOVES her new brother Tarzan. She follows him every where and is learning how to play with him. She loves Pom-Poms toys and will now fetch and retrieve!”

“We are so grateful that we got Tomás from you two years ago now! We can't imagine life without him! :)”

Ariel Like to Play Fetch!

“Ariel is amazing. We've renamed her Lissa. I fell in love at the shelter and she's even better at home. She loves to play fetch - she will walk around with the ball and cry until we throw it to her. She always brings it back. We didn't teach her this, it's not treat motivated, it's just apparently her favorite thing. And once she settles down she's a total love bug. I attached a couple of photos, because she's just a doll. We love her a lot and thank you all so much for all your help.”

Huck Making Friends, Playing Tag and Fitting In Well

“Huck, is officially known as Spaghetti now. After only a week he has managed to actually make friends with our current cat Nya. She's scared of everything so I was sure it was going to take much longer but the two of them spend their days playing tag and running all over the apartment or napping on the cat tree. Spaghetti has been the perfect addition to our family!”

Hades (now Lucky) Right at Home

“Hades, now called “Lucky,” is doing just fine. It took him a few days to adjust to his new surroundings, especially many random sounds, but now he seems to be fully acclimated. He is a delight! One of his favorite activities is watching squirrels, chipmunks and birds on the deck outside our kitchen window.”

“Oreo is doing very well, she gets along with our dog and other cat like she's always lived here, she's very sweet 95% of the time! She does bite sometimes, when she's had enough love or just “how about I bite your toe, cause you aren't doing anything”, LOL. I tell her a gentle but firm NO.”

Percy (now Theo) Doing Very Well

“Percy (now Theo) is doing well. After a short adjustment period, he’s decided that big black dogs are okay. He has made friends with our other cat, Esme, who was a feral kitten and has always been sort of guarded. Theo has won her over and they spend a good part of each evening chasing one another around the house. Now, if he can just learn to drink from the water bowl without knocking it over, we’ll be good!”

Taquito (right) is Doing Great!

“Thanks so much for checking in our wonderful cat. My daughter and Taquito are just best friends and she is well loved and incredibly happy. Everything has worked out well and she is in a loving, caring home. We can’t even imagine our lives without her now. Attached is a picture of Taquito on her first Christmas with us.”

Taylor: Update, Day 4

“Taylor is slowly coming out of his shell. He’s allowing Caitlin to pet him with a Cat pole toy, from his nose to his tail. She has even been able to pet him, with her hand. Last night, he was hanging out with us, in Caitlin’s room. We were praising him and giving him lots of love and attention. He was just soaking-up all the positivity and love. He had a huge smile on his face and his eyes were closed. The best part is that Taylor is talking to all of us! In all the years, we’ve worked with him at PAWS, he has never meowed! He is quite the talker! He has a deep meow, just like our older Cat, Houdini. Our other cats are all showing an interest in meeting Taylor. He is definitely curious about them. Very slowly and one at a time, he’s been meeting the others. Taylor seems very grateful that he found a home. He keeps looking around as if he’s thinking, “Is this a dream?!” He’s a truly wonderful boy and we all love him very much!”
