Good Reasons to Talk to Your Cat!

* You strengthen the bond between you and your cat when you talk to her with affection. It's a great way to show her that you love her.

* After a while, you'll start understanding what certain meows mean. It'll help your cat feel secure and understood when you respond by providing whatever she's asking for, whether it's cuddles or dinner.

* You'll both feel less lonely if you're talking to someone, regardless of whether or not actual words are being said or understood. More than 90% of human communication happens through tone, posture, and body language. This holds true for human/feline interactions.

Happy 18th Birthday Clyde!

Handsome Clyde was originally adopted from Paws as a kitten and had a long happy 16 years with his adopter. In 2016 she became unable to physically care for Clyde any longer and he was returned to Paws. He spent a couple months with us until he came to the attention of a cat blogger named Layla that Kevin and Tracey know.

Layla's blog is informative and easily searchable for any feline subject you may wonder about. In addition there are lots of great pro black cat tidbits and many photos of Clyde!

You can visit her web site at: www.catwisdom101.com

Thank you for the photo Kevin!

Autumn shares mom with new bro

Rosie loves her new home!

“We love her, she is the sweetest and she is doing wonderfully. She loves to play with her two older brothers and her favorite toys which are Pom Pom balls. She also loves to snuggle with us every night.”

Minke (now Ollie) fitting in great

“What a sweet, loving kitten he is! He has adapted very well to his new home and actually seems to like the dogs as well. My lab Maddie and Ollie have become best of friends. He also spends hours with the kids in their room. We are so happy!”

Pokey doing great!

“Pokey is doing just lovely, she’s been for her physical and everything’s good. She’s such a great pal and snuggle buddy, and is amazing. She loves burrowing under blankets and pawing at peoples hands until they pet her.”
(Pokey came in with Prissy last March.)

New at the Shelter

Formerly Behrr and Morris these 3 ½ year old boys find themselves back at Paws after their owner passed away suddenly. We are trying our best to place them together again.

Despite her big eyes, Middie is a very sweet girl who loves to be petted. She lived outside most of her life and started jumping in her caretaker's car when it started getting cold. She's just over 1 year of age and good with other nice cats!

Kisses is missing some hair on her chin, which could be acne, or the result of rubbing her face on things, or can be caused from eating out of plastic bowls. She's about 8 years old, very outgoing and affectionate.

Freya (now Priya) doing great!

“She is very happy here. She and Linus our big gray kitty are good friends and love to play chase a couple of times a day. Having her around has helped Linus lose some of the weight he needed to.”

Ghost & Jon Snow are so big now!

Updates w/o Photos

“I’m happy to share that Roxy is doing well! It took her awhile, but she is now comfortable in our home. She is such a sweetheart, we love her!”

“Sparky and Shadow are doing well. Will take pictures soon and send them out to you.”
