

WEEKLY WOOF

In Memoriam

Ike

Ike ("Preacher") was rescued at less than 3 months old from a neglectful "pug mix" mother in Georgia and relocated to PAWS. After being quarantined for Parvovirus and a respiratory infection with his "foster brother" Ollie (Cindy's dog), he came to be in our family. As the 3rd brother (the other two being human), Ike followed his beloved siblings down the slide and onto the trampoline, and loved to race with them. He had outgrown these pursuits, but continued to enjoy the finer things in life: eating raspberries and tomatoes straight out of the garden and popcorn off the floor (really just eating in ALL forms), naps with Dad, running and woofing in his sleep, snuggles with his boys, and family hikes and road trips. He also enjoyed being a PATN ambassador and always helped draw people in with his warm, welcoming personality. He had a tremendous gift for expression and empathy, from which we all benefited, and in May was certified as a therapy dog. Sadly he began having symptoms of illness the very next week. It seems he had an aggressive cancer. He died peacefully, surrounded in love, on Wednesday, October 10th. He enriched our lives immeasurably and we are so grateful for the gift PAWS gave us 8 short years ago.

Blessing of the Pets

Our sincere appreciation goes out to the Rowayton United Methodist Church, who hosted a lovely event on October 14th to benefit Paws! PATN folks said it was very well-attended, and they enjoyed reconnecting with Paws graduates and their families, including the gent at the right who adopted four cats from us!

Max - One-year Adoptaversary

Max is doing well. A couple of months ago, I brought him to doggie day care - Woof Pack in Bristol and at first he was not so sure about going. I wonder if he thought that he was being left by me (me not coming back for him). He goes once a week and seems to like it now. They are great there and they send me a report after every visit complete with pictures of Max and the other dogs. He even stayed over night one time. I decided that it would be good for him to go and see the other dogs and in case I ever had an emergency with myself or my parents - he would be used to going to daycare and also being away from me for a night. I think that I will have him stay over night at least one time a year. For the past 20 years, I have not gone on a vacation due to having dogs and that has been fine. I do other things for entertainment (as a vacation option).

As my vet says, he is all Beagle and I love him dearly.

He was destroying my new couch cushions by pushing them down and laying on them so I have banned him from the top of the couch (I have folding chairs that sit on the top so he cannot climb up. He is allowed on the chair, ottoman and now he has his own bean bag. He loves the bean bag.

He loves to ride in the car but I cannot leave him in the car in cooler weather - he will howl. I occasionally will stop for gas if he is with me and he is getting better while I pump gas.

He enjoys going to see my parents and of course getting his treats from them.

Sam (formerly Blizzard)

Things are going great! We've renamed him Sam. He is settling in well to our house. He's had a couple accidents, but that's ok.

Crypto

Dad! Stop working... it's time to play!

Stu

Stu is doing a great job fitting in with our family. He is warming up to all of us and getting along well with Fergie. It's a better transition than we could've hoped for.

Will send more pictures but it's hard for him to sit still to get good shots. Thanks for everything.

Wanted to share some pictures of Molly (aka Bonnie). She is adjusting very well and loving her new home. She is such a love bug and amazing company. Thank you again, enjoy the pictures.
